

A SHOE SALE.

To meet the unprecedented demand for Tan Oxfords this season we have been obliged to carry an enormous stock. Our inventory just taken shows that we still have practically complete assortments of the most desirable styles. Since our store policy permits of no carrying over of unseasonable goods from one year to another, and in order positively to insure a quick clearance of these lines we announce a sale on all of our light weight summer shoes.

CHAPTER VI.

AT sunrise the morning after his return from On, Kenekes appeared at the Nile, attended by a burden bearing slave.

The first lean, brown boatman who touched his knee and offered his bar for hire Kenekes perceived. The slave had eased his load into the boat and Kenekes was on the point of embarking when a four oared boat which had passed them like the wind a moment before put about several rods above them and returned to the group on shore.

A bent and withered servant was standing in the bow of the boat, wildly gesticulating, as if he feared Kenekes would insist on pulling away despite his efforts. The young man recognized the servant of Snofru, old Ramas.

The large bari was bearded, and the servant alighted with agility and beckoning to Kenekes, took him aside. "There has been an error—a grave error—concerning the message," the old man began in excitement, "but thou art in haste at fault. Yet mayhap thou canst aid us in unraveling the tangle. See?"

He displayed the linen wrapped roll, the covering split where Snofru had opened it, but the wavering hieratic characters of the address in Lo's hand were still intact.

When the young sculpector had gazed the old servant nervously undid the roll and showed within a letter to the commander over Pa-Rameses, written in the strong epistolary symbols of the royal scribe.

Kenekes frowned with vexation. Innocent and efficient though he had been, the misreading of his mission stung him nevertheless. The blunder was not long a mystery to him.

Summoning all the patience at his command, he recounted the events in the apartments of the ancient hierarch of Atmu.

"There were two scrolls," he explained, "one to the servant of Ra at On, the other to Atsu. The holy father sealed them both before he addressed them and confused the directions. The one which I should have brought to the taskmaster over Pa-Rameses."

"Thou madest all speed?" the servant demanded, trembling with eagerness.

"A half day's journey less than the usual time I made in returning. I doubt much if the messenger with the other scroll hath passed Memphis yet, since he may not have been dispatched in such hot haste. Furthermore, because of the festivities in Tape it would have been well nigh impossible for him to hire a boat until the next day."

"This information kindled a light of hope on the old servant's face."

"Thou givest me life again," he exclaimed. "The blessings of Ra be upon thee!"

Without further words he ran back to the boat, and the last Kenekes saw of him he was frantically urging his boatmen to greater speed back to On. Kenekes dismissed his slave and rowed downstream toward Masarah.

When he reached his block of stone, he unrolled his load of equipments and set to work without delay. He was remote from any possible interruption from Memphis, and the slaves in the gorges and in the stone pits had no opportunity to come upon his sacrilege in idle hours. They would be held like prisoners within the limits of the quarries. His sense of security had been strengthened by the renewed activities in Masarah.

With a shovel of tamarisk he cleared the slab of its drift of sand. He found that the block broadened at the base and was separate from the sheet of rock on which it stood. Among his supplies was a roll of reed matting, and with this cut into proper lengths he carpeted a considerable space about the block. Precaution rather than luxury had prompted this procedure, since the chipped stone falling on the covering could be carried cleanly and at once from the spot.

Pansing long enough to eat a thin slice of white bread and gazelle meat and to drink a draft from the porous and ever cooling water bottle, he turned to the protection and concealment of his statue.

Wary and happy, he rowed himself back to Memphis and slept soundly on the eve of a great offense against the laws of Egypt.

But the next day, when the young sculpector faced the moment of actual creation, he realized that his goddess must take form from an unembodied idea. The ritual had been his guide before, and his genius, set free to soar as it would, fluttered wildly without direction. The young sculpector realized that he was in need of a model. Stolidly he admitted that such a thing was as impossible as it was indispensable. It seemed that he had met complete bafflement.

He took up his tools and returned to Memphis, but each succeeding morning found him in the desert again, desperately hopeful—each succeeding evening to the city disheartened and silent.

So it followed for several days. On the 6th of January the festival in honor of the return of Isis from Pleiades was celebrated in Memphis. Kenekes left the revel in mid-afternoon and crossed the Nile to the hills. He found no content away from his block of stone—no happiness before it.

He descended through the gorge and found that the Hebrews were but nominally idle. Presently a little company of Hebrew children approached, their bare feet making velvety sounds in the silence of the ravine. Each balanced a skin of water on his head.

"Thy burden is heavy, maiden."

Kenekes caught himself looking sharply at each face as he passed, for it contained somewhat of that for which he sought. As he walked along looking after them he became aware that some one was near him. He turned his head and stopped in his tracks.

He confronted his idea embodied—Athor, the golden!

It was an Israelitish maiden, barely sixteen years old, but in all his life he had never looked upon such beauty. He had gazed with pleased eyes on the slender bluish tinted throats and wrists of the Egyptian beauties, but never had he beheld such whiteness of flesh as this. He had sunk himself in the depths of the dusky, amorous eyes of highborn women of Memphis, but here were fathomless profundities of azure that abashed the heavens. He had been very near to loveliest hair of Egypt, so close that its odorous filaments had blown across his face and his artist senses had been caught and tangled in its ebony sorcery, but down each side this broad brow was a rippling wave of gold, over each shoulder a heavy braid of gold that fell, straightened by its own weight, a span below the waist. The winds of the desert had roughened it and the bright threads made a nimbus about the head. Its glory overreached his senses and he sieged his soul. Here was not witchery, but exaltation.

Enraptured with her beauty, her perfect fulfillment of his needs, he realized last the unlovely features of her presence. She balanced a heavy water pitcher on her head and wore a rough surplice, more decorous than the dress of the average bondswoman, but the habit of a slave nevertheless. He had halted directly in her path, and after a moment's hesitancy, she passed around him and went on.

Immediately Kenekes recovered himself and with a few steps overtook her. Without ceremony he transferred the heavy pitcher to his own shoulder. The girl turned her perfect face, full of amazement, to him, and a wave of color dyed it swiftly.

"Thy burden is heavy, maiden," was all he said.

As they neared the camp the girl spoke to him for the first time. He recognized in her voice the same serene tone he had noted in his talk with the Hebrew some days before.

"Give me thy burden now," she said. "Thou hast affronted thy rank for me, and I thank thee many times."

The sculpector paused, and for a moment stood embarrassed. It went sorely against his gallantry to lay the burden again upon her, and he said as much.

"Nay, Egypt has no qualms against loading the Hebrew," she said quietly. "Wouldst thou put thy nation to shame?"

Kenekes opened his eyes in some astonishment.

"Now am I even more loath," he declared. "What art thou called?"

"Rachel."

"It hath an intrepid sound, but Athor would become thee better. Now, I am a sculpector from the city, come to study thy women for a frieze," he continued unblushingly, "and I would go no farther in my search. Rachel repeated will be beauty multiplied. Let me see thee once in awhile—tomorrow."

A sudden flush swept over her face, and her eyes darkened.

"It shall not keep thee from thy labor," he added persuasively.

The color deepened, and she made a motion of dissent.

"Nay, thou dost not refuse me!" he exclaimed, his astonishment evident in his voice.

"Of a surety," she replied. "Give me my burden, I pray thee."

Dumb with amazement, too genuine to contain any anger, Kenekes obeyed. As she went up the shady gorge, walking unsteadily under the heavy pitcher, he stood looking after her in eloquent silence.

And in eloquent silence he turned at last and continued down the valley. There was nothing to be said. His appreciation of his own discomfort was too large for any expression.

Thanksgiving at St. Petersburg.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 24.—Thanksgiving services were held in the municipal hall yesterday in commemoration of the promulgation of a national assembly. Several officials were present. The services concluded with a prayer for the preservation of the imperial family, which was chanted by the officiating priests. The emperor's manifesto proclaiming the assembly was officially read at the regular session of the municipal council. The council decided to send a loyal address to the emperor and also to commemorate the event by the inauguration of some charitable work for the benefit of the poor of the city.

IS UP TO NICHOLAS

Mikado's Representatives Have Played Their Last Card in Game of Peace.

SATURDAY TO DECIDE

Whether Peace or War Shall Triumph and Indications Point to War.

In the Interest of Peace Japan Offered Important Concessions but Will Yield No More.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 24.—The Japanese plenipotentiaries at the conclusion of the afternoon session yesterday of the peace conference threw the cards upon the table. It was the dramatic moment—the moment to which all the previous proceedings had led. The protocols involving agreement upon eight of the ten conditions originally presented by Japan had been signed. One side or the other must make a move or the plenipotentiaries had reached the parting of the ways. The adversaries faced each other across the table. Of course it was well understood what would happen, but that in a way only made it more dramatic. Figuratively, President Roosevelt suddenly entered the conference room.

Mr. Witte sat silent and the move in the great diplomatic game passed to Japan. Baron Komura in a few words explained that Japan in her great desire for peace was ready to make certain "modifications" of the original articles in the hope that Russia would find it possible to accept them. He then presented in writing to Mr. Witte the compromise proposition which President Roosevelt had suggested. It was concrete and specific, and it followed the lines outlined in these dispatches. It offered to withdraw Article 9, providing for the payment by Russia of Japan's bill for the cost of the war, on condition that Russia would accept Article 5, which provides for the cession of the Island of Sakhalin, so modified as to include an arrangement for the repurchase by Russia of the northern half of the island for 1,200,000,000 yen. In addition it offered to withdraw entirely Articles 11 and 12 (surrender of the interned warships and limitations on Russia's sea power in the far East). It was President Roosevelt's compromise and Mr. Witte knew its contents as well as Baron Komura. The question of whether he had been "bluffing" was put to the test. Without a moment's hesitation Mr. Witte explained that the modification proposed was merely a sham, a change of phraseology, a diplomatic attempt to "doser la pilule" and ask Russia to pay war tribute under another name. He could not accept it. He told Baron Komura that Russia wanted peace. She had given the proofs in accepting every article involving the issues upon which the war was fought, but she could fight, and money for tribute she would not pay, not a copeck.

He asked Baron Komura to withdraw all demands for tribute, and so the plenipotentiaries separated to meet again on Saturday, ostensibly to permit Mr. Witte to place in writing, as the rules of the conference require, his reply to the Japanese compromise proposition. In reality the adjournment over the two days was to give each side an opportunity to consult its government for the last time.

The outlook is black. Many believe it will never be so black as today. The Japanese are not talking. Indeed, they appear to be more taciturn and more resolute than ever. The only possible line for Japanese concessions is considered dormant on the amount of purchase money demanded for the north half of Sakhalin. The decision rests, therefore, as it has from the first, with Russia. Unless the emperor agrees to yield between now and Sunday, the end is likely to come on that day. And the indications from Peterhof, instead of raising the chances of a change of heart on the part of the emperor, seem to indicate even a firmer determination to yield neither territory nor indemnity, sugarcoated though the latter may be.

Black as the prospect appears today, however, the failure of the negotiations is not certain. The Russian camp is pessimistic to a man, but they all know the quick and startling changes of front that sometime take place at Peterhof. And there are factors in the situation which might affect one of those sudden and inexplicable changes in the emperor's attitude which has frequently astonished Russia.

Severe Storm at Atlanta.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 24.—An electrical storm of remarkable severity, accompanied by a high wind, visited this city yesterday. One young man named James McDaniel, eighteen years old, was killed by lightning near the center of the city; the Kimball House and the state capital were each struck twice by lightning, but no serious damage was caused to either building. Fully 1,000 telephones are reported burned out, a score of electric streetcars were burned out, windows were blown in, awnings carried away and numerous cellars were flooded. Seventy-tenths of an inch of rain fell in ten minutes. The damage will amount to several thousand dollars.

CITY GOVERNMENT

Will Be Discussed at Annual Session of Municipal League.

Toledo, Ohio, Aug. 24.—"Municipal ownership" promises to be the most important question to be considered by the delegates to the League of American Municipalities, which began a three days' session here yesterday. Mayor Daue of Chicago spoke on the topic, and it cropped out in nearly every discussion, and a majority of the delegates seemed to be in favor of the idea, although there was some opposition to the plan. Mayor Woodward of Atlanta, Ga., suggested that it was better to control private ownership than for the city to either own or operate. "Municipal ownership," he said, "is an excellent thing to ride into office on, but it is impossible to put into execution."

This view excited the strong disapproval of many of the delegates and there was considerable interpolation.

Graft in South Carolina.

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 24.—The legislative committee, which is conducting an investigation into the affairs of the South Carolina dispensary, resumed its sessions yesterday. Sensational evidence was given by F. M. Mixson, who was commissioner in 1895, two years after the law went into effect. He testified that he demanded 5 per cent rebate from every whisky concern from which he purchased liquor. During his eleven months' incumbency, he said, these rebates amounted to $20,000, which was turned over to the state treasurer. When asked what inducements, if any, had been offered him to buy certain brands of whisky, the witness said several houses had offered him bribes to favor certain goods. Witness swore that a Baltimore man had offered him $30,000 for a portion of the dispensary business for his firm. Mixson also testified that a Cincinnati house had offered him $10,000 for his patronage, which he also refused to accept.

Bank Officers Arrested.

Denver, Col., Aug. 24.—Carlos Wood, cashier, R. A. Brown, receiving teller, and Joseph Davis, paying teller of the Savings bank, were arrested here on warrants charging bankers' larceny. The complaints specifically set forth that deposits were received by the bank's officers when they knew that the bank was insolvent.

South McAlester, I. T., Aug. 24.—J. A. Hill, president of the defunct Denver Savings bank, was arrested here yesterday by Chief of Police Collier on information from the Denver authorities, who asked that Hill be held until their arrival. When arrested Mr. Hill stated that he would return to Denver without protest or requisition papers. Pending the arrival of the Denver officer, Hill is being kept under surveillance. He is not confined.

Rev. Campbell Morton's Criticism.

New York, Aug. 24.—A criticism of the New York Protestant church was voiced yesterday by Rev. C. Campbell Morton, D.D., who has been working in the late Dwight Moody's place at East Northford, Mass. When on the point of sailing for Europe on the Baltic, Dr. Morgan said: "The American church does not seem to be much more than a social organization now. Its members spend more time developing along social lines than they do along spiritual lines. The business men, the influential Christians and others do not do their duty."

Hate to Have Him Go.

Mexico City, Aug. 24.—The announcement of Ambassador Conger's resignation is received here with general regret. He had made during his brief sojourn in this capital a most agreeable impression, both in official circles and among the American residents. The appointment of Mr. Thompson, the American ambassador now in Brazil, as Mr. Conger's successor, is regarded here as probable.

Arrest in Cotton Case.

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 24.—Frederick A. Peckham, indicted for complicity in the department of agriculture cotton reports scandal, was arrested here and arraigned before United States Commissioner Charles M. Davidson, who ordered an adjournment of examination in default of $12,000 bail. Peckham was lodged in the Saratoga county jail at Ballston.

HOPEFUL REPORTS

The Message From Stricken Crescent City Is One of Hope.

REIGN OF YELLOW JACK

Will Soon Be Broken if Improvement of the Past Week Continues.

The Situation at New Orleans Is Being Ably Handled by Those in Charge.

New Orleans, Aug. 24.—New cases yesterday, 53; total to date, 1,556; deaths yesterday, 5; total to date, 219; new food, 10; total, 352; cases under treatment, 312.

New Orleans, Aug. 24.—Little variation from the steady improvement of the past week marked yesterday's numerical record of the yellow fever situation. The variation was in the nature of improvement, for with a light death list there is assurance that the fever has at present no tendency to assume a virulent form. Confidence continues to grow, and it is believed that if the favorable conditions at present are maintained during the first half of September, the communities which now have their doors closed to New Orleans will be inclined to reopen them for the movement of freight. Many of the country districts are suffering as severely as is the city by interruption of communication.

The quarantines this year have fortunately been put on in a season of summer dullness, and if they are taken off when trade becomes active the only inconvenience will come from the obstructions to the free movement of passenger traffic.

Surgeon White, Chairman Janvier of the citizens' committee, Dr. Beverly Warner, in charge of the ward superintendents, and President Suchon of the state board of health, went to Baton Rouge yesterday for a conference with Governor Blanchard. The trip was made at the suggestion of the governor, who desired to know at first hand the exact status here of all departments of the work. Since the very beginning of the fever the governor has been unable to put foot in New Orleans. Quarantined, he is compelled to be penned up in Baton Rouge and he has been compelled to confine himself to telegraphic and telephonic communication.

Many sensational reports have been sent away from here as to the hero worship of which Dr. Leach of Minnesota is the object. Dr. Leach has been courteously received by the public in general and has been the recipient of much attention. Many thousands of people here are taking arsenic and many would like to see an actual test of it. But there is no truth in the statement that the entire population is mobbing the doctor's hotel in the effort to have audience with him. The doctor addressed a large meeting last night, the feature of which was consideration of Dr. White's letter printed yesterday, in which it was shown that congressional committees, after hearing opinions of the army and marine hospital surgeons, had refused to authorize commissions to experiment with arsenic as a prophylactic of plague, cholera and yellow fever.

Situation Unsettled.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 24.—The situation in the Baltic provinces is not improving. Several political murders have been reported. Official advices show that the disturbances are fostered and directed by a thoroughly organized social revolutionary committee with headquarters at Riga, the emissaries of which defy the best efforts of the police. The intelligence department of this committee supplies ample warning of movements of troops. Four of the leaders were arrested recently, one of whom was a woman. The socialistic revolutionaries are very strong at Riga, Royal and Libau.

The Strike in Poland.

Warsaw, Aug. 24.—The strikes in the factories at Warsaw and Lodz have ended. Trains are running from Warsaw on time. They are guarded and driven by soldiers. The wholesale arrests which have been made here include leading members of the Polish Socialist party. Several persons have been conveyed to the fortress of Modlin, because the jails set apart for political prisoners are full.

Ill Health Causes Suicide.

Charlotte, N. C., Aug. 24.—W. C. Hardison of Wanesboro, N. C., prominently identified with various manufacturing enterprises in this state, committed suicide last night by shooting himself through the head. The act is thought to have been caused from illness and heavy losses occasioned by the failure of the Independent Cotton Oil company of Darlington, S. C.

Admiral Rajevsky.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 24.—Vice Admiral Rajevsky, in a letter to his family, says he expects to have fully recovered from two wounds received in the battle of the Sea of Japan by the middle of next year, when with the permission of the Japanese government, he will start for Russia.

Efforts Made to Apprehend Murderer of Woman at Chicago.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—The police have made a number of arrests in connection with the murder of Mrs. Effie Mize, who was shot on Washington avenue Tuesday night by a robber, but all of them were released in the afternoon with the exception of William Bracey, a colored man. Bracey has been a waiter at the Holland hotel and was positively identified by Nora O'Hara and Nellie Curran, two maids employed in the Del Prado hotel, as a man they saw following Mrs. Mize and Mrs. Wilson, her companion, a short time before the shooting. Both girls had worked in hotels with Bracey and knew him well. Mrs. Wilson declared that the murder was committed by a white man, but when confronted with Bracey admitted that he might be the man. Bracey, although a negro, is of a light yellow shade.

Bracey admits walking on Washington avenue a short time before Mrs. Mize was shot, but says he was not in the neighborhood when the crime was committed.

Catholic Union.

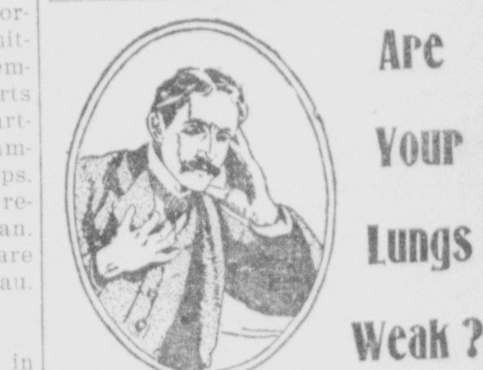

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 24.—The convention of the Catholic Young Men's National Union closed yesterday with the election of officers and the adoption of resolutions outlining its policies. The delegates recommended that the state Catholic parochial schools and the national government assist the bureau of Catholic Indian missions. All Catholic societies are urged to interest themselves in the establishment and support of night schools. Such organizations are requested to find themselves together in provincial unions and engage in joint debates. The convention expressed its approval of the Champlain summer school and adopted a resolution commencing "in particular the work of the fountain head and source of all systematic education—university training," and urging the support and endowment of a Catholic university at Washington. The members voted their approval of the action of the Massachusetts legislature in homes and by persons of their own faith, and asked other states to take similar action.

"When I commenced taking your medicine, eighteen months ago, my health was completely broken down," writes Mrs. Cora L. Sunderland, of Chaucerville, Calverton Co., Md. "At times I could not even walk across the room without pains in my chest. The doctor who attended me said I had lung trouble, and that I would never be well again. At last I concluded to try Dr. Pierce's 'Golden Medical Discovery' and I soon commenced to feel a little better, then you directed me to take the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and I did. Altogether I have taken eighteen bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' twelve of the 'Favorite Prescription,' and five vials of 'Pelle's.' THE Indianapolis News is not pleased with Judge Francis E. Baker's decision of the Consumers Gas Trust Company case and is editorially reversing him every day.

If President Roosevelt is able to prolong the peace conference Russia and Japan may be able to get together. The probabilities of peace seem somewhat remote now but no one can do more than guess at the outcome. Certainly the President is doing his utmost and that means much.

The New Castle Courier says that a force of men have invaded Henry county selling stoves and ranges. They are smooth talkers and are able to sell to some people stoves and ranges forty per cent higher than New Castle merchants ask for the same goods. That is usually the case and likewise the man who buys of the big mail order houses finds out his mistake in the course of time.

The man who assails Governor Hanly's policy towards obedience to law, takes a position he cannot sustain. Who dares stand up and say that an officer of the state does wrong when he insists that the laws of the state be respected and obeyed? Who dares to say that a citizen does right when he willfully violates the law of his state? Not one. The people believe in the law and they know that Governor Hanly is right in the position he has taken. His positive position on this question is doing good in causing public opinion to assert itself and in the encouragement it gives to public officials over the state.

San Jose Scale.

Morton Hall of near Azalia, has an idea that the San Jose scale about which so much is being said in Indiana at present, came from California. He says that nearly every orange and lemon tree there is infected with the scale and no one ever thinks of eating an orange without first washing it off. The shipping firms have machines for washing the oranges and where no machines are provided the fruit is washed by hand before it is shipped. Some of these firms are rather careless and infected oranges are often shipped east. Mr. Hall believes that the scale could have easily started here by being brought all the way from California on an orange. Mr. Hall was in California several months a year or two ago and observed something of the San Jose scale while there.

Brownstown Reunion.

The annual soldier's reunion at Brownstown began today and will continue over tomorrow. This is an event that draws a large crowd each year and former residents of Brownstown and vicinity take advantage of this occasion to visit among old friends. About seventy-five people went from here on No. 7 today and nearly half that many went yesterday. Quite a good many more drove through and will stay for the exercises tonight. Others will go down tomorrow morning.

Physicians to Meet.

The physicians of the Fourth Congressional District are called to meet at North Vernon, October 26, to organize a district medical society. The movement is in conformity with the laws of the State Medical Society and any legally qualified physician of any school is eligible to membership.

New Shop.

George Mascher has opened a blacksmith shop in the Pfaffenberger building on Chestnut street next to Dr. Casey's office. He will do horseshoeing, general blacksmithing, woodwork and all kinds of repair work. He is an experienced man at his trade, having worked extensively in all lines of the business.

Entertained.

Mrs. R. J. Montgomery entertained the Epsilon Club at dinner Tuesday. The dining room was beautifully decorated in red and white, the club colors. Dinner was served in three courses. The club thanks Mrs. Montgomery for being so royally entertained by her.

Sewer Done.

William Railing has completed the sewer through the alley north and south back of the residence of S. A. Barnes, Allen Swope and others. The connections have all been made and the sewer is now in working order.

Horse Ran Away.

BANDA ROSSA.

Open Air Concert Pleased a Great Crowd Last Night.

The band concert given by the Banda Rossa on the street in front of the Lynn House last evening was attended and heard by a large and very appreciative audience. The entertainment lasted from 7:30 to 9 o'clock and every selection won the applause of the bystanders. All are very complimentary in their praise of the music and the amusement committee of the Log Rolling Association feel gratified that the carnival company has secured the best music available for their attractions.

The band went to Brownstown today to play at the Soldier's Reunion and advertise the Log Rolling with their banners and stir up a large delegation from our neighboring town to our fall festival. A telephone message from Brownstown this afternoon stated that the Banda Rossa had been engaged to stay over night and furnish music for the celebration this evening.

CANTWELL'S CONDITION

Many Anxious Inquiries From Friends Over the State.

Indianapolis, Aug. 21.—Many inquiries are being received here regarding the condition of Sydney W. Cantwell of Hartford City, speaker of the last Indiana house of representatives, who is in a critical condition at St. Vincent's hospital. The report yesterday that he had already been operated on for tuberculosis of the kidneys was premature. The surgeons merely made incisions to drain the kidneys and give him a chance to become healthier before the major operation will be attempted. Mr. Cantwell is resting better than expected, but he is liable to suffer a relapse at any time, as he was very weak when brought here. If he gains strength he will probably be taken to Hartford City within two or three weeks to remain several months in hopes of gaining strength to stand the operation for tuberculosis. He is very cheerful under the circumstances and is hopeful of having his life prolonged.

Vice President Fairbanks is being received with great honor in the East, where he is making a number of speeches. At Ogdensburg, N. Y., where he was the principal speaker at the dedication of a soldiers' monument, he was given a magnificent reception. In Vermont and other states he has met with ovations so his trip has been a great success. He and Mrs. Fairbanks expect to spend several days at Bar Harbor, Me., before returning to Indianapolis. In spite of the fact that both branches of congress are taking the usual summer vacation the vice president is a very busy man. He has accepted numerous invitations to speak on subjects covering a wide sphere. Much time is required in preparation of speeches, so his vacation has been a busy one. He and Mrs. Fairbanks will probably go to Washington about the middle of November to spend the winter. Senator Hemenway, who with Speaker Cannon, has been a guest of Congressman Sibley of Pennsylvania at his summer home for three weeks, is now in Washington, but will return to Indiana soon.

The Indiana railway commission has been asked by the wholesale mercantile companies and the commercial travelers' associations to abolish the alleged practice of the railroads in overcharging for express baggage. Complaints were filed today against the Monon, Big Four, Pennsylvania and other railroad companies. The new law provides that the roads shall not charge more than 12 per cent of the railroad fare for each 100 pounds excess over the 150 pounds which it is supposed to carry on each ticket, but with the complaints many tickets were presented showing where the excess charge had been larger than the cost of the ticket itself. The traveling men and their employers have been arranging for some time to take action, as they insist that the roads have been overcharging them for years.

Ferdinand C. Smock, a defeated candidate for the Republican nomination for councilman-at-large, who tried to enjoin Chairman Metzger from certifying the ticket to the election commissioners, has asked the court to dissolve the temporary order. He says he and Chairman Metzger went over the returns and that he is satisfied with the result as shown by the official count. He also says that the primaries were conducted fairly. It is said that interests unfriendly to C. A. Bookwalter, the mayoralty candidate, induced Smock to contest the primaries in hopes of stirring up trouble for Bookwalter and the rest of the ticket, but the Republican leaders got onto their game and showed Smock that he was being duped.

The state board of tax commissioners adjourned its session for the year this afternoon and then held the annual watermelon feast in the state-house basement. Parks M. Martin, the Democratic member, furnished the melons this year and he had a bounteous supply of Washington county's finest on ice for the occasion. It has been the custom for the new member of the board to furnish the melons for the feast, and it would have fallen on Governor Hanly to produce them, but Martin will be host. The members of the board were the guests of Secretary of State Storms and John Wingate at Cartersburg Springs at dinner last night.

Cotton Scandal to Be Probed.

New York, Aug. 24.—United States District Attorney Beach, who has been investigating the alleged leak in the cotton reports, came here yesterday from Washington and conferred with United States Commissioner Samuel Hitchcock and Assistant United States District Attorney Wise. It became known that two warrants were issued by Commissioner Hitchcock in connection with the committee on cases.

Bee Sting is Fatal.

Silver Lake, Ind., Aug. 24.—Enoch Rhodes was stung by a bumblebee yesterday and died before medical aid could be reached.

Mr. Rhodes was working on his farm, about two miles from here, when he received the sting, and his son, who was working with him at the time, knowing the effect of a sting on his father, immediately started to town with him in a single buggy, but he was dead when they arrived at the physician's office here, the poison of the sting having affected his heart.

J. A. CLARK, Agt.

Good ritualism is no sign that a brother is a good Old Fellow, nor is it evidence that he is a bad one, but it is evidence that he thinks enough of the order to devote much valuable time to it, which should always be something in his favor.—Lodge Record.

B. endless chain letters Alice D. Montport of Chandler, O. T., succeeded in raising over $1,000 for the proposed home in that territory.

At the recent session of the grand lodge of British Columbia the membership of the jurisdiction was reported to be 3,300.

At the end of the year 1904 there were 10,974 members in good standing in the subordinate lodges of Oklahoma, an increase of 1,783 during the year.

The Independent Order of Odd Fellows is a venerable institution in Honolulu, with three lodges, two encampments and two Rebekah lodges.

Grand Secretary Fahn of Texas reports that seventeen subordinate and seven Rebekah lodges were instituted in Texas during the term ending Dec. 31. Number of lodges, 400; members, 18,915.

It is the work of the active members that has made the order the strong organization that it is.

At the recent session of the grand lodge of Washington the reports of the lodges showed the membership to be 14,351, a net gain during 1904 of 1,201. There was paid out in relief $47,203.22, making the average cost per member for relief $3.29.

MODERN WOODMEN.

Head Consul of the Order—From Various Jurisdictions.

A. R. Talbot, who was recently re-elected head consul of the order, has given the Modern Woodmen a splendid administration since his election to this office in 1903. He is a lawyer by profession, was formerly a law partner of W. J. Bryan and was at one time a member of the Nebraska legislature. His activity in the order dates back to 1890, when he was a delegate to the head camp and a member of the laws committee which reorganized the order's laws and gave it new life. Mr. Talbot was born in Warren county, Ill., in 1850 and is a resident of Lincoln, Neb.

In the twenty-one years of its life the order has paid over $42,000,000 to its beneficiaries and is paying nearly $7,000,000 each year.

The total number of deaths in the Modern Woodmen of America during the years 1903 and 1904 was 6,979.

Recently camp 2002 of Kansas City, Mo., the banner camp of the jurisdiction, held a meeting and initiated a class of 123 candidates.

There are now over 50,000 benefit members in good standing in the Wisconsin jurisdiction.

RED MEN.

Notes and Gossip From Various Reservations.

Past Great Inebriate Thomas G. Harrison had served for fifteen great sins as keeper of wampum of his tribe when elected great inebriate. The duties of that chiefdom compelled him to resign, but his tribe has now re-elected him to the place.

Peated tribe of Atlantic City, N. J., has 1,900 members.

At the great skull lifting powwow of Osceola tribe of Nashville, Tenn., recently 120 palafaces were adopted.

The great council of Arizona, instituted last hot moon, at which time there were 823 members, now reports a membership of over 1,100.

One of the order's strongest tribes is Ottawa of Camden, N. J. It has over 1,400 members and is worth in property and wampum 21,000 fathoms.

Quindaro is a new council of Peacahontas at Bluefield, W. Va.

Out of the $52,000,000 paid last year in death losses by the fraternal societies affiliated with the national fraternal congress $9,000,000 went to the beneficiaries of those who had died from consumption.

The Foresters of America are now well established in thirty-five states and territories.

Fraternal insurance properly administered covers the need of the people in a greater degree than does any other system.

The Independent Order of Foresters, organized in 1871, has 210,000 members and has paid in benefits $16,000,000.

ALL WHITE MEAT.

Colorado Man Raises Freak Chickens Above Timber Line.

Luther Burbank's efforts in the cultivation of flowers and vegetables have been eclipsed by a resident of Tolland, on the Moffat road, says the Denver News. The championship in chicken breeding has been won by F. J. Francis, who has been for more than two years a resident of that section. Mr. Francis is a photographer and sells photographic views to the hundreds of tourists who come to Tolland daily on the trains over the Moffat road. He has discovered his new phase of the chicken industry quite by accident.

Mr. Francis claims to have produced a chicken which is all white meat. The condition of the meat he ascribes to the altitude. He avers that if a chicken could be raised above timber line it would be perfectly white from skin to gizzard. Near the top of the continental divide is the place where he has been conducting his experiments. Rollins pass is the highest point on the Moffat road. It is 11,000 feet above the sea. Here there is no timber, no vegetation of any kind, except a few scattering specks of drying grass and hardy sage brush.

"I found out what I claim about the chickens by observing the fish," said Mr. Francis in discussing his discovery. "I noticed the texture of the flesh of fish in the lake at Tolland was different from that in Teller lake, which is several hundred feet higher. The flesh of the fish in Yankee Doodle and Jenny lakes, which are still higher, is whiter still, and if there was water at a higher altitude that contained fish I am sure you would find the flesh to be entirely white. My theory is that chickens raised at a high altitude will contain no dark meat and will be as tender and juicy, even when old, as the chicken used for 'spring broilers' on the hill of fare."

"We have 100 chickens now at Teller lake that are being raised with a view to proving what I claim."

New Sun Clock.

A new and highly ingenious form of sun dial clock was recently exhibited at the Royal society's rooms in London. It is the invention of Professor Albert Crehove. The gnomon of the compass dial is replaced by a head fixed on a wire, the shadow of which is cast on the interior of a true cylindrical surface. On this surface figures of eight curves are drawn, marking standard noon for each day of the year. The cylindrical surface is inclined so that its axis, upon which the head is fixed, is parallel to that of the earth. It thus represents the latitude of the place. The shadow of the head travels across the cylindrical surface parallel to or on one of the circles drawn thereon. These circles represent days of the month. Each hour described in the circle is always of the same length, and a scale of minutes engraved on the cylinder enables true mean time to be read off directly to a few seconds.

An Automobile Bank.

The accompanying picture shows the first automobile bank ever made in the United States, which is soon to be put into actual use by a Cincinnati savings institution. It is built of chilled steel, with double walls, an inch of space between them. In one corner is placed a burglar proof safe, and desk room for several clerks is also provided. The motive power is electricity, the car having a storage battery capacity of fifty miles. It will be used by the bank in collecting from customers, especially from shopkeepers, at night. The machine cost over $5,000.

VOTES INCREASE

Carnival Queen Contest Getting Interesting.

At this time no one can tell who will be voted the queen of the carnival. Several of the young ladies are pretty evenly matched so far. A good many people are watching the contest very closely and will add to the votes of their favorites. Remember that now is a good time to drop in your votes. They may be more effective now than later on.

The Carnival Queen contest at noon stood as follows:

Miss Mayme McDonald.....	110
" Alice Sharon.....	112
" Myrtle Baker.....	164
" Grace Ewing.....	69
" Hattie Niemeyer.....	231
" Hazel Stevens.....	133
" Helen M. Gates.....	222
" Ina Shannon.....	30
" Elsie Aufderheide.....	66
Miscellaneous Votes.....	8

The ballot boxes are at F. H. Gates' store, Cox's Pharmacy and Abel's grocery. Watch the vote from day to day and you will likely do some voting yourself.

WHAT? WHERE? WHEN? WHY?

If you are thinking of buying coal there are four questions you may wish to have answered before you make your purchase. A truthful answer to each one of these queries follows. These answers ought to convince the most skeptical.

What Kind of Coal Should I Buy?

The best kind of coal and the kind you should buy is RAYMOND CITY COAL, which is a high-grade, carefully screened, "clinkerless" fuel.

Where Can I Buy Raymond City Coal?

From THE JOHN EBNER ICE CO., the largest dealers in coal and coke in the city, and who handle only the very best grades of fuel.

When Ought I to Buy Raymond City Coal?

Immediately, for if you place your orders now for it you may have all you want for the coming winter's use for the low price of $3.50 per ton.

Why Ought I to Buy Raymond City Coal?

Because it is the best coal on the market for household use, and because it will give the best satisfaction. It makes no soot, and leaves but few ashes, and a small quantity of it will last longer than a much larger quantity of poorer coal.

THE JOHN EBNER ICE CO.

Called Down

For delivering a poor quality of lumber has not been our experience, we are glad to say. Having only well seasoned stock of the best grades obtainable on hand, we are prepared to furnish hardwood and softwood lumber in any reasonable quantity at reasonable prices and on short notice.

DRIFTING TOWARDS BRIGHT'S DISEASE

Many people who are neglecting symptoms of kidney trouble, hoping "it will wear away," are drifting towards Bright's Disease, which is kidney trouble in one of its worst forms.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE

stops irregularities, strengthens the urinary organs and builds up the worn-out tissues of the kidneys so they will perform their functions properly. Healthy kidneys strain out the impurities from the blood as it passes through them. Diseased kidneys do not, and the poisonous waste matter is carried by the circulation to every part of the body, causing dizziness, backache, stomach trouble, sluggish liver, irregular heart action, etc.

If you have any signs of Kidney or Bladder Trouble commence taking FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE at once, as it will cure a slight disorder in a few days and prevent a fatal malady. It is pleasant to take and benefits the whole system.

How to Find Out.

You can easily determine if your kidneys are out of order by setting aside for 24 hours a bottle of the urine passed upon arising. If upon examination it is cloudy or milky or has a brick-dust sediment or small particles float about in it, your kidneys are diseased, and FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE should be taken at once.

G. B. Burhans Testifies After Four Years.

G. B. Burhans of Carlisle Center, N. Y., writes: "About four years ago I wrote you stating that I had been entirely cured of a severe kidney trouble by taking less than two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. It entirely stopped the brick-dust sediment and pain and symptoms of kidney disease disappeared. I am glad to say that I have never had a return of any of those symptoms during the four years that have elapsed, and I am evidently cured to stay cured, and heartily recommend Foley's Kidney Cure to any one suffering from kidney or bladder trouble."

A Warning to Mothers,

Too much care cannot be used with small children during the hot weather of the summer months to guard against bowel troubles. As a rule it is only necessary to give the child a dose of castor oil to correct any disorder of the bowels. Do not use any substitute, but give the old-fashioned castor oil, and see that it is fresh, as rancid oil nauseates and has a tendency to gripe. If this does not check the bowels give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and then a dose of castor oil, and the disease may be checked in its incipency and all danger avoided. The castor oil and this remedy should be procured at once and kept ready for instant use as soon as the first indications of any bowel trouble appears. This is the most successful treatment known and may be relied upon with implicit confidence even in cases of cholera infantum. For sale by C. W. Milhous.

SOUGHTY TROUBLE

Morristown, Tenn. Provoked a Low and Followed Up Antagonist.

IS FRIGHTFULLY CUT

His Body Cut Almost in Two and Doctors Say Recovery Is Impossible.

Wound in Abdomen Seventeen Inches Long Required Sixty-one Stitches.

Morristown, Ind., Aug. 24.—Physicians report that there is little chance for the recovery of Edward Hauck, who was stabbed by John Nelson, the assault occurred in front of Renick's drug store. Frank Nelson, father of John Nelson, Luther Nelson, a brother, Frank B. Thatcher, James Lockwood and Ed Hauck were sitting in front of the store when Hauck accused Nelson of being out buggy riding with a woman of Morristown. Luther Nelson denied the accusation and Hauck called him a liar. John Nelson arose with his knife in his hand and advanced toward Hauck. The latter, thinking he was in danger, struck Nelson. It is said by bystanders that Nelson then started away, but was followed by Hauck, who drew a revolver and threatened to shoot. Nelson turned and stabbed Hauck in the abdomen, cutting a gash seventeen inches long. Hauck's body was nearly cut in two. His condition is critical. He was taken to Dr. McIlroy's sanitarium, where the wound was dressed. Sixty-one stitches were required to close the injury.

Nelson was taken to Shelbyville, to be held pending the outcome.

LARGEST MAN DEAD

Philip Kreigh, Who Weighed Nearly Seven Hundred Pounds.

Danville, Ind., Aug. 24.—The funeral of Philip Kreigh, at Stillveston yesterday was attended by one of the largest crowds that ever gathered in Hendricks county to pay its last respects to a departed citizen. "Big Phil" was known to every man, woman and child in the southern part of Hendricks county and his acquaintance was hardly limited to the United States. On account of his unusual size he was known all over the world.

He was born in Hendricks county fifty-four years ago, and except while on the road as a museum attraction, made his home in Stillveston. When a young man he was a stripling, and when he was married, at the age of twenty-two, he weighed 185 pounds. His weight increased until he tipped the scales at nearly seven hundred pounds. For some years he traveled from coast to coast, exhibiting himself in museums in large cities. In this manner he became quite wealthy, but lost much of his wealth by his liberality. He has been closely confined to his home for several months with dropsy, losing much of his flesh.

The coffin, made especially for his body, was so large that it could not be taken through the door, and it was necessary to remove the casing from the window and take away parts of the weatherboarding in order to get the coffin out of the house. There is no hearse large enough to hold the coffin and the body was hauled to the grave in a two-horse wagon.

The funeral was under the auspices of the Masonic order, of which Kreigh was an active member. A wife and three children survive.

Regimental Reunions and Forty Second Anniversary Battle Chickamauga.

Chattanooga, September 17-21, 1905.

On September 18, 1905, will occur the forty-second anniversary of the Battle of Chickamauga. It is proposed to celebrate this memorable event with a reunion of the various regiments that participated in this memorable battle, and, in addition, to hold at the same time, a grand reunion of all the regiments that participated in the various battles fought around Chattanooga. This reunion will be held at Chickamauga National Park, September 18, 19 and 20, and the present indications are that it will be the largest and most notable gathering ever held in the south. On the above dates, the remnants from the armies of twelve states, comprising the following: Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas and Kentucky, will assemble, many for the first time since they marched from their blood-stained fields, forty-two years ago.

Grand and glorious will be the meeting and all who attend will have cause to rejoice. The lowest rate ever secured has been given the entire public for this occasion, one cent per mile, short line distance.

Here is one of the greatest opportunities for the education of the youth. Don't fail to take your children and show them historic Chickamauga, with all its historical connections. It is the opportunity of a lifetime. Go and see the old war generals and other officers point out the places of interest on the battlefield; let them show you and explain, in person, the markers erected on the battlefield showing the positions of the opposing armies at the time of battle. It will not be long until none will be left to do this noble work; take this opportunity and don't let it escape you, it is worth six months in the school room to any student.

It will be many years, if ever again, that such an opportunity will present itself. See that your tickets read via the Louisville & Nashville R. R. the Battlefield Route. Call on your nearest railroad agent for rates and advertising matter pertaining to the reunion or write nearest representative of the Louisville & Nashville R. R. A. Louisville, Ky. J. H. The trip to the Oregon Exposition, in addition to the attractiveness of the extensive exhibits, includes the journey through the scenic wonderland of the Rocky Mountains and the Cascade Range, and what American has not looked forward from the days of the geography class in school to the time when those great sights should be seen in reality? The time was never so favorable as now. The trip may be made less expensive than ever. For only a slight difference in fare tourists may extend their trip to San Francisco and Los Angeles. The return trip may be made over a different route, enabling travelers to view much more of the west. For full particulars, fares, dates of special excursions to Portland on account of conventions, through time and passenger service apply to ticket agent of Pennsylvania Lines.

SEEING AMERICA.

Wonderful Scenic Trip Across Rocky Mountains to Oregon Exposition.

In certain respects the excursions to the Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition, Portland, Oregon, via Pennsylvania Lines, beginning May 23rd and continuing through the summer, offer advantages never before presented to Exposition visitors. The trip to the Oregon Exposition, in addition to the attractiveness of the extensive exhibits, includes the journey through the scenic wonderland of the Rocky Mountains and the Cascade Range, and what American has not looked forward from the days of the geography class in school to the time when those great sights should be seen in reality?
